

FAST TRACK WORKPLACE SAFETY

Online inductions with the power to control and improve safety

“This is really helping us create a culture of value towards safety at every level.”

Quite simply, Rapid Induct enables you to induct your employees, contractors and visitors online – before they visit your site. You’ll have the power to quickly create multiple courses that reliably test each inductee’s knowledge of the material as they are inducted. By strengthening and simplifying the learning process, you’ll actively reduce risk and improve workplace safety.

How we improve safety

When you provide your employees and contractors with a clear and easy way to understand the unique safety issues of your workplace – you’re helping to create a safer working environment. No one understands the safety issues of your workplace better than you. That’s why Rapid Induct provides the control and flexibility you need to build and adapt courses that quickly respond to organisational needs and industry changes. So your safety education is always up to date – and clearly understood.

By allowing you to combine the knowledge you have of your organisation’s safety issues and procedures with a failsafe method of educating and assessing your inductees, Rapid Induct becomes a very powerful tool for enhancing safety.

How we make your job easier

When your induction process runs smoothly, you’re free to concentrate on creating and managing a safer workplace. Rapid Induct’s simple user interface allows you to create and adapt induction courses quickly, so you can get them up and running in a fraction of the time. Then it starts working for you! Rapid Induct provides automatically generated reports that track your induction training to show course effectiveness and efficiency.

If you’re managing multiple sites, creating and adapting courses that correspond to each site’s requirements becomes simple – and can be controlled from a central location. In addition to creating your own content, Rapid Induct also provides over 100 ready-to-use policies, or we can create new ones for you. Rest assured, we are always there to help you whenever you need support or knowledge.

Once course materials have been created, a content library hosts all course content, enabling you to transfer and access information throughout the organisation. And because Rapid Induct is fully hosted off-site by us, you can cut down on IT costs – and hassles.

- Induct prior to site arrival
- Respond to changes immediately
- Test and assess inductees’ knowledge
- Demonstrate a proactive attitude towards safety
- Create and edit courses with simple user interface
- Reduce IT hassles with off-site hosting
- Generate relevant reports automatically
- Access our customer support as you need it

How we improve efficiency

How much time do you spend each week inducting contractors, employees and visitors? Imagine what you could achieve if you could free-up your time. With Rapid Induct, all your contractors and visitors can complete their inductions prior to arriving on site. That means they can start their work immediately – and yours won't be interrupted.

Rapid Induct's online capabilities also mean that you can create a consistent message throughout your organisation and across multiple sites – because all inductions are controlled through a single source of communication. You can also automate re-induction and training, while easily maintaining induction records. To save you even more time, Rapid Induct enables you to export all your automatically recorded data to Excel or PDFs at any time.

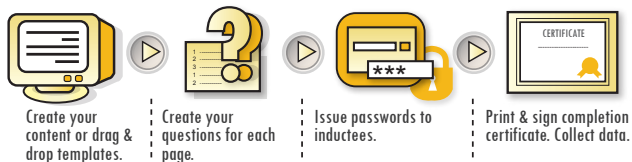

- Increase efficiency of contractor time
- Create a consistent, organisation-wide message
- Automate training and re-induction
- Automate data retrieval and exporting
- Easily maintain induction records

How Rapid Induct works

Rapid Induct operates entirely online. Using proven online technologies, you can create and operate your entire induction process without installing software or managing your IT department. Designed to be user-friendly, Rapid Induct delivers robust functionality that enables you to meet all your induction needs – and more.

Using pre-existing text, images, video or audio, anyone with basic computer skills can create course content and test-questions from their own computer. By simply clicking on the "new course" option, your authorised administrators can create new courses at any time, without technical assistance or additional fees. Once the course is created, you simply email or SMS a password to each inductee, enabling them to access and complete the course in their own time.

A failsafe test of knowledge

After viewing the course, inductees take a questionnaire that tests their comprehension of the information. If a question is answered incorrectly they are taken back to the relevant information and asked a different question. This process is repeated until they have demonstrated that they understand the material. When the course is successfully completed, a certificate with their score is printed and signed by the inductee. You can also monitor each inductee's progress and questionnaire success rate at any time.

Features include:

- Unlimited course creation
- Self editable content with instant updates
- A question bank that allows you to add up to 10 multiple choice questions
- A Global Content Library that stores pages to share within your organisation
- The ability to split inductions into modules

Optional features

Site Administrator Levels: Add a new subsidiary site within your organisation for 2nd level administrators to perform inductions within their business unit.

Advanced Personnel Types: Including a Training Matrix, this feature enables various personnel types to be created beyond the standard, employee, contractor and visitor.

Document Upload: Collect and upload any relevant documents for authorised administrators to access, such as public liability, insurance, Workcover or licenses.

Survey Tool: Enables you to customize questions to collect feedback from the inductees about the course.
