

Are you delivering a consistent message of safety across your organisation every time?

Are you tracking every induction and qualification?

Can you update your course material as fast as you need to?

Are all your contractor inductions still valid?

Can you deliver your courses anywhere at any time?

Are you in control?

What Rapid Induct Delivers

1. The capabilities you need to create a safety compliant induction system
2. Complete and timely control over all your course content
3. The ability to create, edit and deliver unlimited courses throughout your organisation
4. Version Control to manage and track courses over time
5. Extensive real-time reports to analyse, track and export all your data
6. A consistent message of safety across your entire organisation
7. A fully hosted system to eliminate in-house IT issues

How Rapid Induct Works

Rapid Induct is a fully hosted, web-based solution. Using proven online technologies, you can create and deliver your entire induction and training program to all contractors, employees and visitors without the installation of any software.

User-friendly and industry proven, Rapid Induct provides the robust functionality you need to meet all your induction needs.

A simple process:

1. Create or upload existing courses
2. Create your questions
3. Issue passwords to inductees
4. Print certificates upon course completion

Why Rapid Induct is Different

Product Features: Rapid Induct has been built to complement and improve the way OHS professionals create, deliver and manage inductions.

- Unlimited course creation, editing and ongoing training
- A failsafe questioning process
- Deliver the right courses to the right people – based on job role – every time.
- Create different levels of access and control for the system's administrators
- Document Upload to easily collect and manage licenses and insurances
- Auto-reminder for refresher courses
- A survey tool that enables you to collect inductee feedback

Full branding capabilities

Inductee Login

Induction course page

Failsafe questioning process

How we help you make it happen

Customer Support: Our in-house, Australian-based client services team makes up nearly one third of our entire workforce and boasts a leadership team with experience that stretches into decades. They are at the heart and soul of our business, continually helping our clients to get the best out of their system.

Training and ongoing support is available to both your staff and your inductees for no additional cost. And when you call us, you'll immediately speak to a real person.

Industry Expertise: At Rapid Global, we are not just software developers. We are experts in the area of OHS management with a depth of understanding that comes from working hand-in-hand with our clients and other industry professionals for almost a decade. It's how we've been able to build solutions that meet complex OHS management needs head-on.

Furthermore, our Technology Team all receive training in customer service and can talk you through any issue in plain, non-tech English.

Implementation: Our in-house Technology Team will work closely with you to ensure that Rapid Induct is implemented in a way that best suits your induction and training needs, as well as your organisational structure. We will provide as much live, online training as you need to operate the system comfortably and effectively, as well as provide on-going learner support free of charge, to ensure that you're getting the most out of your system.

Online Induction & Training

Compliance and reliability for your contractor and employee training

visit: www.rapidglobal.com

*"I used to spend half my day inducting.
Now it's done before they arrive!"*

"Now that I have instant access to comprehensive reports, demonstrating compliance is easy."

"Delivering a consistent message across all divisions is essential. With Rapid Induct it's also simple."

*"It's fully hosted and it's secure.
For me, that means no IT issues."*